

Thursday, June 25, 2008

To Whom It May Concern:

We've had the pleasure of working with H B Training & Consulting (HBTC) for almost a decade. HBTC has been a valuable part of the controlled growth and risk management of our business. Specifically, HBTC has consulted with us on implementation of safety policies, safety training, job specific safety & team building seminars, project safety inspections including mock O.S.H.A. inspections, advice with actual O.S.H.A. jobsite inspections, as well as general consultation on safety and O.S.H.A. questions that arise from time to time. HBTC has consulted with us on all different types and sizes of commercial construction projects including the 430,000 sqft Mill Creek High School, the largest high school in the state of Georgia. Having worked in the commercial construction industry in the southeast U.S. for over 20 years, we've encountered many "safety professionals" from all walks of life including the insurance industry, contractor associations, and even other industries. Clearly, HBTC is the leading expert in construction safety in the Southeast United States.

The President of HBTC, Mark Hornbuckle, has many years of experience in the construction industry including day to day onsite operations. He understands what it takes to balance a safe workplace with the needs of budgets, schedules, and quality of the work. He also understands O.S.H.A requirements and regulations and knows most of the O.S.H.A. representatives in the Southeast division. Furthermore, Mark is passionate about safety on construction sites and always takes it at least one extra step to ensure that the site is safe, that the workers understand safe work practices and the need to work safely, and that his client is protected.

It is with this background and experience that I highly recommend HBTC for any construction safety consulting, no matter how large or small, no matter what type of construction, no matter where in the U.S. Should you have any questions or wish to discuss this further, do not hesitate to contact me directly at 678-244-6508 or wmccorkle@evergreencorp.com.

Sincerely,

A handwritten signature in blue ink that reads "William F. McCorkle".

William F. McCorkle
Vice President